

POLICIES AND QUALITIES

Two Public Online Symposia
On the Role of Architecture Competitions

organized by

Jean-Pierre Chupin Université de Montréal

&

Tina Gregoric TU Wien

Thomas Amann TU Wien

Tuesday 12.01.2021 • 18:00 - 20:00 CET

Tuesday 19.01.2021 • 18:00 - 20:00 CET

Live stream: www.youtube.com/gbltuwien

Why is it necessary to stimulate innovation in architecture?

How would you define the various forms of innovation allowed by competitions?

How can we use competitions as a platform for innovation in architecture and in society in general?

How can competitions be a stimulating space to formulate and test architectural positions and to challenge existing standards?

How do you see the tension in competitions between the confirmation of existing dogmas and their criticism, between imitation and innovation?

How can competitions balance risk management and experimentation to produce the best project for a specific situation?

Thomas Amann ● University Assistant, PhD candidate at Institute of Architecture and Design, TU Vienna, Austria

Jean-Pierre Chupin ● Professor at Université de Montréal, Canada and director of the Canada Research Chair in Architecture, Competitions and Mediations of Excellence

Bechara Helal ● Interim Director, Associate Professor at Université de Montréal, Canada and member of Laboratoire d'étude de l'architecture potentielle (LEAP), Canada

Benjamin Hossbach ● co-founder of [phase eins]. – Project consultants + design competition organizers, Berlin, Germany

Wilfried Kühn ● Professor at Institute of Architecture and Design, TU Vienna, Austria and co-founder of Kühn Malvezzi Architects, Berlin, Germany

Lilli Pschill & Ali Seghatoleslami ● founding partners of PSLA Architekten, Vienna, Austria

Competitions as Laboratories for Innovation Symposium

Moderation: Prof. Jean-Pierre Chupin, Univ.Ass. Thomas Amann

Tuesday 19.01.2021 ● 18:00 - 20:00 CET

Live stream: www.youtube.com/gbltuwien